As commerce moves from hardwired to digital, technology-led innovation is redefining every aspect of payments and financial services, elevating entrepreneurship from the fringes to the heart of the industry. With disruption no longer confined predominantly to the long tail, large organizations are re-evaluating their core strategies, product roadmaps and partnership structures while start-ups are entering the ecosystem with radically new models supported by unprecedented levels of investment and interest. Entrepreneurship and innovation are core Money20/20 themes, with coverage ranging from the state of venture capital investments to showcasing and launching some of the newest market entrants.

With more than 2.5 billion unbanked adults globally, of which an estimated 100 million are in Western Europe, this underserved group is a sizable segment both regionally and globally. Money20/20 Europe covers technologies and solutions ranging from emerging mobile money and remittance initiatives, to disruptive cryptocurrency efforts in providing affordable transactional services and savings accounts to this segment of the world's population. We also discuss the diverse providers in this space, including non-traditional entrants and start-up companies with distinct disruptive propositions, and the state of the industry and the potential for significant short-term advancement in bridging this gap in financial services.

Martin Blessing CEO, Commerzbank

It takes a special skillset and vision to lead a global bank with millions of customers and tens of thousands of employees. It takes something even more special to lead a bank through the financial crisis and out the other side.

Martin has proven himself as one of the most resilient bank CEOs in Europe, with a career at Commerzbank spanning more than 15 years. Under Martin's leadership, Commerzbank and subsidiaries mBank and comdirect have pushed the envelope when it comes to innovation.

Martin joins us in Copenhagen in one of his last speaking engagements as Commerzbank CEO for a unique behind-the-scenes look at how to make an elephant dance: the constant quest for self-disruption and agility in banking.

Sebastian Siemiatkowski CEO & Co-Founder, Klarna

Leading Klarna's rapid growth throughout the Nordics, across the rest of Europe and now the US, Sebastian is uniquely positioned to share his insight on the key success factors and how to navigate the challenges in scaling a business globally.

As the pride of Europe's unicorns, Klarna is transforming the way both consumers and retailers buy and sell online. Sebastian will also share his vision on the future of commerce, making this a dream double act not to be missed.

Sir Michael Moritz Chairman, Sequoia Capital

Few people have greater experience in scaling a business than Sir Michael. It starts with Sequoia itself which was transformed under his leadership. He has also played a key role in the growth of global giants like Google, PayPal and Yahoo, and is the only person who can say he was there from the inception of all three.

A long track record of backing successful companies such as Klarna, LinkedIn, and Stripe makes him uniquely qualified to share a perspective on both the startup ecosystem and what it takes to build enduring companies. In a rare keynote, Sir Michael will also share his insights into the future of fintech.

Olaf Koch CEO, METRO GROUP

Hear from one of the leading figures in European retail, who has transformed the fortunes of METRO GROUP through a focus on executing a service orientated model, strengthening its multi-channel strategy and delivering a fresh approach to innovation. This includes launching an accelerator program with Techstars and a ground-breaking strategic partnership with Alibaba. Olaf will share METRO GROUP's approach to innovation and how digital technologies are playing a key role in its customer(s) engagement strategy.

METRO GROUP generated sales of around €59 billion in 2014/15 and operates around 2,100 stores in 30 countries. It is a European market leader in consumer electronics retailing, an international leader in self-service wholesale and has strong presence in hypermarkets.
